FOREWORD

ASEAN was established in 1967 as a regional organisation founded on the ideals of peace, prosperity and harmony. After five decades of evolution and development, ASEAN has achieved an unprecedented level of peace dividends that lay the foundation for significant economic growth and enhanced socio-cultural cooperation.

With its mandate to monitor and implement the decisions made by ASEAN Leaders, strengthen relations with ASEAN’s external partners, as well as coordinate cross-pillars matters in addition to providing administrative and substantive support to the ASEAN Secretariat, the Committee of Permanent Representative (CPR) has played a key role in ASEAN’s Community building efforts.

This handbook aims to provide information to all stakeholders and to enrich their understanding of ASEAN and the CPR, thereby bringing the CPR closer to the people it serves. All of these would be part of the ongoing efforts to deepen and broaden the ASEAN Community process to bring opportunities to the peoples in the region and beyond.

LE LUONG MINH
Secretary-General of ASEAN
July 2017
The Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) was established on 8 August 1967 in Bangkok, Thailand, with the signing of the ASEAN Declaration (Bangkok Declaration) by Secretary of Foreign Affairs Narciso Ramos (The Philippines), Foreign Minister Adam Malik (Indonesia), Foreign Minister Dr. Thanat Khoman (Thailand), Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak Hussein (Malaysia), and Foreign Minister S. Rajaratnam (Singapore). They would be collectively referred to as the five Founding Fathers of ASEAN.
Brunei Darussalam joined on 7 January 1984, Viet Nam on 28 July 1995, Lao PDR and Myanmar on 23 July 1997, and Cambodia on 30 April 1999, making up the ten Member States of ASEAN we have today.

The ASEAN Charter, a legally binding agreement among the 10 ASEAN Member States, entered into force on 15 December 2008. It codifies the norms, principles, rules and values that must be upheld in the pursuit of common goals. It also provides the institutional framework for ASEAN.

The ASEAN Foreign Ministers pose in the ‘ASEAN-way’ during the entry into force of the ASEAN Charter in December 2008 at the ASEAN Secretariat in Jakarta, Indonesia.
Structure of ASEAN

ASEAN Summit comprises the Heads of State or Government of the ASEAN Member States and is the supreme policy-making body.

ASEAN Coordinating Council comprises the ASEAN Foreign Ministers and is supported by the relevant Senior Officials. It convenes at least twice a year to, among other functions, prepare for the ASEAN Summit and related meetings, coordinate the implementation of the Summit’s decisions and agreements.

ASEAN Community Council comprises the ASEAN Political-Security Community Council, the ASEAN Economic Community Council, and the ASEAN Socio-Cultural Community Council. Each Community Council coordinates the work of the different sectors under its purview and coordinates on issues that cut across those of other Community Councils.

ASEAN Sectoral Ministerial Bodies comprise Ministers from all ASEAN Member States for a particular sector, such as Education, Youth, Labor, Transportation, to name a few.

ASEAN National Secretariats serve as the national focal points which, among other roles, coordinate the implementation of decisions at the national level.

CPR underpins all of the bodies above and comprises the 10 Permanent Representatives of Member States to ASEAN. The Chairmanship of the Committee is held by the Permanent Representative to ASEAN of the Member State which serves as Chair of ASEAN at the time.

The CPR, as outlined in both its Terms of Reference (TOR) and the ASEAN Charter, covers multiple layers of the ASEAN structure. While its TOR specifically notes that the CPR reports to the ASEAN Coordinating Council, its initiatives and recommendations feed into policy discussions at the sectoral, ministerial and summit-levels, as well as with its external partners.

The CPR’s tasks may generally be categorised as follows:
- monitoring and implementing Leaders’ decisions,
- cross-pillar coordination,
- strengthening relations with ASEAN’s external partners,
- providing substantive and administrative direction and support to the ASEAN Secretariat.

The CPR conducts its regular internal meetings at least once a month, with the specific frequency determined by the Chair. These internal CPR meetings discuss a number of issues, both administrative and substantive in nature.

In terms of administrative support, the CPR serves as the approving authority for the annual operational budget of the ASEAN Secretariat, as well as for ASEAN cooperation projects funded by ASEAN’s central funds. It serves in the same capacity for the various funding mechanisms maintained with Dialogue Partners.
In addition to its regular internal meetings, the CPR regularly conducts meetings in Jakarta for various mechanisms, including:

- ASEAN-Australia Joint Cooperation Committee Meeting
- ASEAN-Canada Joint Cooperation Committee Meeting
- ASEAN-China Joint Cooperation Committee Meeting
- ASEAN-EU Joint Cooperation Committee Meeting
- ASEAN-India Joint Cooperation Committee Meeting
- ASEAN-Japan Joint Cooperation Committee Meeting
- ASEAN-Republic of Korea Joint Cooperation Committee Meeting
- ASEAN-New Zealand Joint Cooperation Committee Meeting
- ASEAN-Russia Joint Cooperation Committee Meeting
- ASEAN-United States Joint Cooperation Committee Meeting
- ASEAN-Norway Joint Sectoral Cooperation Committee Meeting
- ASEAN-Pakistan Joint Sectoral Cooperation Committee Meeting
- ASEAN-Switzerland Joint Sectoral Cooperation Committee Meeting
- ASEAN-Germany Development Partnership Committee Meeting
- East Asia Summit (EAS) Ambassadors’ Meeting in Jakarta (EAMJ)
- CPR Plus Three (China, Japan and the Republic of Korea) Meeting

The CPR also conducts annual interfaces with delegations of the United Nations and with other ASEAN bodies, like the ASEAN Intergovernmental Commission on Human Rights (AICHR). The CPR also engages civil society to exchange views on ASEAN-related issues.

The regular interfaces with ASEAN Dialogue Partners and other relevant external partners serve to strengthen cooperation, especially in the areas of functional and development cooperation. The CPR also negotiates outcome documents, such as Declarations, and Statements, for the consideration of the higher bodies. It also ensures that the various perspectives of Member States are incorporated before elevating the document(s) for the consideration of the Ministers and Leaders.
Plans of Actions (PoAs), or similar documents, map out strategic areas of cooperation that govern the relationship between ASEAN and the respective dialogue or external partners. The CPR is at the frontline of negotiating the PoAs with the relevant dialogue or external partner.

Each Member State is assigned on a rotational basis, for a specific period, the role of Country Coordinator for each Dialogue Partner. It is the Country Coordinator’s role to coordinate between its assigned Dialogue Partner and other ASEAN Member States.

The CPR also monitors the implementation of the various action lines in the ASEAN Community Vision 2025, including those in its accompanying blueprints. These action lines may be implemented through projects such as symposia, fora, workshops, dialogues or outreach activities, to name a few.

ASEAN 2025: Forging Ahead Together was adopted by the Kuala Lumpur Declaration on ASEAN 2025: Forging Ahead Together at the 27th ASEAN Summit in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia in November 2015. It is a bold roadmap that articulates the collective goals of ASEAN Member States towards an even stronger Community and comprises following:

- ASEAN Community Vision 2025
- ASEAN Political Security Community Blueprint 2025
- ASEAN Economic Community Blueprint 2025
- ASEAN Socio-Cultural Community Blueprint 2025
- Initiative for ASEAN Integration (IAI) Work Plan III
- Master Plan on ASEAN Connectivity 2025

ASEAN 2025 reaffirms Member States’ collective commitment to further strengthen the ASEAN Community through strategic interventions that span across the political-security, economic and socio-cultural pillars. Each Blueprint provides action lines that aim to complete, within a specific timeframe, key measures towards the vision of an ASEAN community that is politically cohesive, economically integrated and socially responsible.
The members of the CPR concurrently serve in a number of other ASEAN bodies and mechanisms:

- ASEAN Foundation
  ASEAN Foundation (AF), established by the ASEAN Leaders on December 1997, is mandated to, among others, promote ASEAN awareness and identity, enhance interaction among various ASEAN stakeholders and develop Human Resources and address socio-economic disparities. With a view to further strengthen the ASEAN Community, the AF implements capacity-building projects in 4 general areas of education, arts and culture, media, and community building. The AF is governed by a Board of Trustees (BOT) composed of the members of the CPR. The Chairmanship of the BOT rotates alphabetically among the ASEAN Member States.

- Initiative for ASEAN Integration (IAI) Taskforce
  The IAI Task Force, comprised of the ten Permanent Representatives to ASEAN, provides policy guidance and directions in the development and implementation of the IAI Work Plan, which is designed to assist Cambodia, Lao PDR, Myanmar and Viet Nam (collectively referred to as the CLMV countries) to meet ASEAN-wide targets towards narrowing the development gap among ASEAN Members and between ASEAN and the rest of the world. The IAI Work Plan III consists of 5 strategic areas: food and agriculture, trade facilitations, MSMEs, education and health and well-being. The Chair of the IAI Task Force serves a one-year term and rotates alphabetically among the CLMV countries.

- ASEAN Connectivity Coordinating Committee (ACCC)
  The ACCC is the body tasked to coordinate and oversee the effective implementation of the Master Plan on ASEAN Connectivity (MPAC) and its successor document, MPAC 2025. It is comprised of the Permanent Representatives to ASEAN. The Member State holding ASEAN Chairmanship serves as the Chair of the ACCC. The MPAC 2025, which the CPR helped craft, focuses on five strategic areas: sustainable infrastructure, digital innovation, seamless logistics, regulatory excellence and people mobility with a view towards an ASEAN community that is seamlessly and comprehensively connected.

- ASEAN Institute for Peace and Reconciliation (AIPR) Governing Council
  AIPR is the ASEAN institution for research activities on peace, conflict management and conflict resolution. It is governed by a Council whose majority is traditionally composed of the Permanent Representatives to ASEAN.
Working Group of the Committee of Permanent Representatives to ASEAN (CPRWG)

The CPR is assisted by a Working Group that comprises the Deputy Permanent Representatives and other officials from the 10 Permanent Missions of Member States to ASEAN.

As the working arm of the CPR, it provides recommendations to aid in CPR’s deliberations. The Chairmanship of the CPRWG is held by the Deputy Permanent Representative to ASEAN of the Member State serving as Chair of ASEAN at the time.
