In Focus: Simplifying Trade Through Self-Certification of Origin

Rules of Origin (ROO) refer to the criteria used to determine where a product was made and its eligibility for preferential tariff treatment. Applying specifically to the ASEAN region, products that comply to the ROO provisions, as indicated in the ASEAN Trade in Goods Agreement (ATIGA), are classified as being of ASEAN origin, and in turn, will be able to enjoy the ATIGA preferential tariff rates.

Simple, business friendly ATIGA ROO, both in design and in application, will strengthen ASEAN’s production value chain. To this end, continuous reform and enhancement of the ATIGA ROO are being considered, more specifically on the improvement of the ATIGA Form D Certificate of Origin (CO). This document is issued by a national government to exporters so that it can be used by counterpart importers for a preferential tariff rate under ATIGA.

Against this background, the ASEAN-wide Self-Certification Scheme (AWSC) was just recently launched to further facilitate intra-ASEAN trade. This initiative allows exporters who have demonstrated their competence to comply with ATIGA rules of origin requirements, known as “certified exporters”, to self-certify the origin status for their goods to be eligible for ATIGA tariff preferences. With this new implementation, Certified Exporters are now able to make out Origin Declaration to all ASEAN Member States.

The Core Concept of AWSC and Its Benefits

The core concept of Self-certification is the shift of responsibility from the government (Issuing Authority/Customs officers) to the private sector (exporters/manufacturers). This concept results in certain benefits: (i) Enabling authorised/certified exporters to make out invoice declarations on the origin of goods exported that can be performed anytime; (ii) Simplifying trade procedures that will encourage the private sector to enhance their utilisation of ATIGA commitments; (iii) Minimising implementation issues that discourage traders from utilising the free-trade agreement (FTA); and (iv) Promoting regional production network and reducing cost of doing business (money and time).

AWSC Business Process

The business process for the AWSC can be broken down into three separate phases:

Phase I: Application and Accreditation

This is a transaction between an exporter in one of the 10 ASEAN Member States (AMS) and the Competent Authority in the respective AMS. It is the process by which the exporter submits an application to be a Certified Exporter (CE), provides the necessary documents and proof of compliance to the respective AMS’s requirements.

Phase II: Registration

This phase covers the process whereby the respective AMS registers their accredited CEs into the AWSC database maintained by the ASEAN Secretariat.

Phase III: Certification and Clearing

This phase covers when the Certified Exporter issues self-certified origin declarations which are then used by the Certified Exporter by presenting them to Customs in the receiving country for the purposes of claiming the ATIGA preferential tariff.

Becoming a Certified Exporter

Certified Exporter (CE) in the AWSC Scheme is able to produce their own invoice declarations on the origin of goods exported that can be performed anytime for seamless trading among ASEAN Member States. In general, the steps to become a certified exporter are:

1. Check your company’s eligibility;
2. Contact and register at the Competent Authority; and
3. Fulfil CE Obligations.
