COVID-19: Highlights and Situation Overview

- Worldwide, there have been over 48.9 million cases and more than 1.23 million deaths attributed to COVID-19. COVID-19 cases across Europe have now topped 11 million, with Austria and Greece the latest countries to impose partial lockdowns. France, Germany, Belgium and Ireland have already done the same, introducing strict restrictions on movement and, in most cases, shutting all but non-essential services. Nearly 285,000 deaths from the virus have now been recorded across the continent. In the United Kingdom, England is facing into a second lockdown, after Prime Minister Boris Johnson gave in to growing concern from medical experts over the healthcare system's ability to cope. The government is also launching a pilot scheme in the city of Liverpool, currently one of the worst-affected cities, that will see rapid-result Covid-19 tests provided to the entire population. If successful, Johnson says the scheme could be rolled out across the UK.
- Indonesia's National COVID-19 Task Force announced that it was currently finalizing the road map for a nationwide vaccination program, which it seeks to begin in November or December. According to the task force's spokesperson, in a press conference on Tuesday (November 5), the government needed to consider several factors to determine the priority groups such as vaccine availability, the number of residents that need to be vaccinated, high-risk areas, as well as vaccination steps and indexes. Road map would also cover vaccine platform schemes and clusters that would be first targeted for vaccination. In the meantime, the government is still waiting for the results of late-stage trials of would-be COVID-19 vaccines to ascertain their safety, detect possible side effects and decide on the proper dosage. The Health Ministry reported 4,065 new confirmed COVID-19 cases on Thursday (November 5), bringing the total number of cases nationwide to 425,796.
- The head of the Vietnam's Coronavirus Task Force said today (November 6) that Vietnam will stick to its strategy of containing COVID-19 rather than rush to secure a supply of a vaccine that could be expensive and potentially risky. Through months of aggressive mass testing, military-run centralized quarantine and early border closures, Vietnam has kept its coronavirus tally to just 1,210 cases and gone over two months without community transmission.
- A health sub-committee of the Thailand's COVID-19 task force has approved a reduction in quarantine from 14 days to 10 days, for visitors arriving from "safe" countries. These include passengers coming from countries with similar risk level to Thailand, or slightly higher. Those arriving from countries considered "high risk" will still need to carry out 14 days' quarantine. The proposal now needs to be approved by the Centre for Covid-19 Situation Administration (CCSA), which is chaired by the Prime Minister. Public Health Permanent Secretary said that the reduction has received initial approval after a trial showed that both 10-day and 14-day quarantine periods had the same result. After 10 days, it should be possible for tourists to travel to at least 10 provinces where disease prevention measures are in place, including Chonburi, Phuket, Rayong, Chiang Mai, Chiang Rai, Buriram and Surat Thani.

Travel Advisories (new update/s)

- Thailand: With no new Special Tourist Visa applications for November, the Thai government is considering a no-quarantine travel bubble plan with China. Officials hope that if approved, the scheme could be put into operation in time for Chinese New Year in February. China currently has 22 low-risk provinces. The countries' foreign ministries will discuss next steps and proposal for this joint travel bubble plan would then require final approval from Thailand's Prime Minister Prayut Chan-o-cha and his Chinese counterpart, President Xi Jinping. Thai officials are also turning their consideration to Switzerland, hoping to attract long-stay Swiss tourists on non-immigrant O-A retirement visas.
